ED MORROW AND THE FARMERS

Edwin P. Morrow admits he opposed pardoning five Grant County farmers who had been convicted of violating the anti-trust laws in proceedings in the Federal Court. Morrow was district attorney when the farmers took an appeal from the district court which convicted them to the Court of Appeals, which affirmed their conviction. His name appears on the brief of the government in that appeal case. In spite of his declaration that "I had nothing to do with the prosecution of these farmers."

Now, it should be borne in mind that the Republican party never made a move against the tobacco trust while the tobacco war was on in Kentucky. The Republican Governor of Kentucky did not even attempt to institute proceedings against the trust, whose exactions were rapidly making anarchists out of peaceful farmers, which robbed these farmers right and left without benefit of clergy, which offered them a price for their tobacco sometimes under the actual cost of production and assured them that they "could take it or leave it;" and that was true; there was no other buyer. When the tobacco growers revolted against such conditions the heavy hand of the law was laid upon them, but not upon the trust. "My troops" even were called out to suppress violence caused by the robbery of farmers by the trust. But not a move was ever made by the Republican administration, state or national to relieve the suffering farmers.

Women and little children, toiled through the burning heat of July and August to help the struggling husband and father raise a tobacco crop. He was unable to employ any other help. The trust took the crop, the tears of the mother and the worn children and their work having been in vain, the prices frequently amounting to confiscation, it is little wonder they wanted to do themselves what the government of their state and nation should have done for their protection. But in this case the Republican party ran "true to form." Always a trust party, kept in power by the trusts, like the devil himself it looked after its own. The farmers were the ones who got the axe. One who would vote for Ed. Morrow now deserves all that the G. O. P. may hand him.

When we urged those desiring to vote intelligently, to hear Congressman D. H. Kincheloe's we meant just exactly that. There are no people more honest, intelligent and desirous of good government than those of Kentucky, and you will find it true here as elsewhere that the most intelligent and progressive citizens are those who read the writings of authors who know and listen to the addresses of capable men. Congress-Kincheloe is a man of recognized ability and one of Kentucky's leading statesmen, therefore can instruct any of us (always excepting the super intelligent Harbourside Republican). The above mentioned paper would have us listen to the ranting and braggadocio of Political Boss Hart, Flour Millionaire Ballard and Farmer Prosecutor Morrow, but when a man who knows things, comes around, the editors of said paper begin to tremble in their boots knowing their trite theories in regard to the "mean old Democrats" will be buried so deep under the weight of truth that even Ed Morrow will be unable to dig them out four years hence when he makes his third attempt to blind the people with his oratory.

From the time of that sturdy old warrior, Isaac Shelby, down to the present day statesmen have considered it one of the highest honors that could be bestowed upon them to be elected governor of the great commonwealth of Kentucky, and in all the history of political activities in this grand old state no record can be found where any man considered himself so high and exalted that he had to descend rather than ascend to the Governor's chair. But in these latter days comes a man called Morrow who, on Posters and in speeches throughout the state, offers to become Governor "For the honor of Kentucky."

Who has ever heard of a more egotistic statement by a man claiming to possess the qualifications of a governor? Can you imagine his old uncle, Gov. Bill Bradley, making such a statement as this.

The State of Kentucky is a Democratic State by a majority of from twenty to thirty thousand when the party polls a full vote and this will be demonstrated again next Tuesday if the Democratic voters do not become over-confident or let some trivial matter keep them away from the polls. The Republicans are as usual on the alert and will be out in full force, so every Jeffersonian Democrat should go early and vote hard. We have the best ticket for years and there is no reason why Gov. Black's majority should not be at least 25000 if Democrats only VOTE.

Although challenged by both Senator Stanley and Gov. Black, the Republican candidate for governor still refuses to enter into joint debate.

Senatorial speeches against the League of Nations would not bring much by weight, but they would be costly if sold by the yard.

A vote under the log cabin is a vote for Ballard, a millionaire miller and self confessed profiteer.

It is said that every saloon in Louisville has Morrow's picture prominently displayed.

A vote for Black is a vote for a sober, clean Christian gentleman.

It is easier to break up a cold or check a cough now than it will be later. Persistent bronchial coughs that "hang on" all winter pave the way for serious throat and lung diseases. L. W. Day, 65 Campbell Ave., E. Detroit, Mich., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar relieves one of bronchitis very quickly. I hope never to have it again." This reliable family medicine for the relief of coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, etc., contains no opiates. Children like it.

KINCHELOE HERE

One of the most masterly addresses ever delivered in Ohio county was heard at the court house here Tuesday afternoon by an enthusiastic audience of Ohio county citizens. In spite of the threatening weather the courthouse was filled and scores were forced to stand in the aisles and hallway.

Congressman D. H. Kincheloe in forceful terms told of the achievements of the National administration and of Morrow's refusal to favor the League of Nations. With this as a prelude he began by showing what was accomplished by the only two Republican governors Kentucky ever had was the calling out of troops and spending the state's money. Taking the various accusations of Morrow and his friends he showed the untruthfulness of them in a manner that left no doubts as to the desperate straits the Republicans are in for campaign material. He urged every Democrat to vote, pointing out the fact that Republicans never fail to go to the polls.

DISCHARGE HIM? SURE NOT

Landlord of Typical West of Ireland Estate Highly Valued Poor Marksmanship of Lodgekeeper.

It was a typical West of Ireland estate, and the Sassenach landlord was just driving his newly arrived English guest through the lodge gates when a bullet zipped by his ear. "Good heavens!" exclaimed the guest. "What was that?" "O, only one of my men having a pot shot at me," replied the landlord. "I rather fancy it was my lodgekeeper." "Great Scott!" again ejaculated the guest. "What will you do with the fellow—have him arrested for attempted murder?" "Do with him!" repeated the landlord. "Nothing, of course." "Not even discharge him?" persisted the guest. "Good gracious, no!" replied the landlord. "Why, I wouldn't lose the fellow for a fortune. He's one of the worst shots I've ever had on the estate."
